

SALUTE FROM THE MAYOR

Let me extend a warm welcome to you as you begin your life in Brno, the Czech Republic's most dynamic city.

Brno has always responded to the challenges of the times, whether in the form of its massive industrial development in the 18th and 19th centuries, its position at the forefront of international architecture and design in interwar Czechoslovakia or its innovative responses to the rapidly changing globalized world of the present. As we move steadily into the 21st century, the bold decision taken by the city only twenty odd years ago – to reinvent itself as the country's main R&D and IT centre – is now bearing fruit. It's probably thanks to the city's development that you yourself have come to Brno.

As an integral part of this strategy, Brno has also worked steadily to upgrade the city's leisure-time facilities, renovate its parks and other green spaces and refurbish and expand its cultural institutions. It has also taken many steps to ensure that foreigners like you will feel at home in the city, including support for the Brno Expat Centre. It's to ease the process of settling in here in Brno that BEC has prepared this brochure.

It's my hope that Brno will enrich your life as much as you will enrich the life of Brno. And that you spend a very happy time in Brno – perhaps even a lifetime.

Petr Vokřál Mayor of Brno It's my hope that Brno will enrich your life as much as you will enrich the life of Brno. And that you spend a very happy time in Brno – perhaps even a lifetime.

In all probability, the desire to live in Brno was never very high up on your wish list. In fact until recently it was unlikely that you'd ever even heard of Brno or been able to place it on a map. But by some lucky chance, here you are, having come to work in Brno alongside the thousands of other foreigners who've been arriving in increasing numbers in recent years.

Lucky – because Brno's a great place to live. Large enough to have all the amenities of a big city, it's also small and compact enough to retain a human scale. Steeped in history, it remains young at heart thanks to almost 80.000 students attending its many universities. Within the city boundaries you'll find endless opportunities for cultural, sports, entertainment, gastronomical and other leisure-time activities. Yet the countryside is only minutes away: the heavily wooded hills and steep valleys to the north and west, the rolling, open plains and vineyards to the south and east – all accessible by a dense network of hiking trails and cycle routes.

Brno's chief historian claims that the city has a "tolerance gene" in its DNA. Be that as it may, it's certain that since its foundation almost eight hundred years ago it's always thrived when it's been most open, encouraging foreigners to come here, work, set up businesses, make the place their home. They've played a major role in Brno's life and in ensuring that it remains a thriving, dynamic city. So though you're new to Brno, you're at the same time part of a very old and distinguished tradition.

Hoping to meet you soon, Don Sparling, BEC Lead Consultant, and the BEC team

A GREAT PLACE TO LIVE

BRNOIN CITY FACTS NUMBERS

Brno is the Czech Republic's "second city" after Prague; as the saying has it, "We're number two – we try harder." Historically, it was the capital of Moravia; nowadays it's the capital of the South Moravian Region. Because of its location, it's often referred to as "Central Europe's most central city", with convenient access to all the region's major cities (Vienna, Budapest, Bratislava, Krakow, Prague).

BRNO IN NUMBERS

"All BEC consultants have experienced living abroad for part of their life and understand the particular needs of our expat clients. We can put ourselves in your shoes and approach an issue from your perspective, bringing in local knowledge and a network of contacts. We truly enjoy working with the international community and seeing more and more talented people coming to Brno. Become local with us and help the city flourish."

Jan Kopkáš, Brno Expat Centre Executive Manager

"We appreciate the support of the City of Brno and also of our thirteen partners, international companies and institutions that enjoy priority services and extra benefits for their employees and their family members. Since 2016 we have been providing full support in the immigration and relocation process, including assistance and interpretation with authorities.

Our ambition is not only to help highly skilled foreigners, but also to be one of the key local players in Brno's international development. We hope BEC and our TEDxBrno conferences connecting creative individuals in Brno will encourage the development of a truly open and international city."

NEEDS

POSSIBILITIES

OBLIGATIONS immediate

Registering with the Foreign Police

All foreigners, whether from outside the EU or EU citizens, are legally obliged to register their place of accommodation with the Foreign Police.

EU/EFTA citizens and their family members must register their place of residence in this country with the Foreign Police within 30 days. You might be automatically registered by the receptionist in the hotel or dormitory where you stay but it's still a good idea to go to the FP and get the proof about the registration in your passport or on a printout.

Foreigners from outside the EU and EFTA must register within 3 working days of their arrival in the country either with the Foreign Police or Immigration Office.

Here in Brno the Foreign Police are located at Cejl 62b and the Immigration Office at Hněvkovského 65. You only need to bring your passport or ID with you and you'll fill in a short form at the counter; no need to supply any other documentation. Make sure you know your exact address and the name of your accommodation provider (landlord). You can find all the details on how to register in the BEC Infosheet on Immigration: Registering with the Foreign Police.

OBLIGATIONS immediate

Residence card and the Immigration Office

Foreigners from outside the EU/EFTA coming with a visa sticker allowing them to enter the country and receive a residence card upon arrival (typically an Employee Card - Zaměstnanecká karta) will need to visit the Immigration Office of the Ministry of the Interior within three days to pick up a residence card.

EU citizens may – this is not obligatory – apply for a Temporary Residence Certificate (Potvrzení o přechodném pobytu) at the Immigration Office; their non-EU family members may apply for a Temporary Residence Permit (Povolení k přechodnému pobytu) at the same office.

Once you have your residence card, don't forget to report any changes regarding your residence address, name, family status or purpose of stay within 30 days. And never forget to apply for the extension in time – 120 to 30 days before the expiration date in the case of the employee card and 120 to 0 days prior to the expiration date of all other long-term residency permits. Even just one day later is too late.

The Brno branch of the Immigration Office of the Ministry of the Interior is located at Hněvkovského 65. Arranging an appointment at 543 214 316 may save you considerable waiting time. More information about residence cards can be found at the Immigration Office website: www. immigrationportal.cz. For more details on immigration issues regarding temporary residence for EU nationals and permanent residence status download the BEC Infosheet on Immigration.

Health insurance

Valid health insurance is one of the legal requirements for a stay in the Czech Republic. The Foreign Police may request confirmation of health insurance as a necessary obligation of your legal stay. Foreigners from outside the EU/EFTA must have valid travel insurance (when on a shortterm visa) or Czech commercial health insurance for foreigners (when on a long-term visa and residency permit) or a Czech public health insurance card (in the case of employment by a Czech company). EU/EFTA citizens must have a valid EHIC (European Health Insurance Card). For more details on the Czech health insurance system, your options and duties, you can download the BEC Infosheet on Health insurance.

OBLIGATIONS in the first months

Waste collection fee

All foreign citizens who intend to stay in Brno for longer than 3 months have the responsibility to pay the waste collection fee. The fee is 670 CZK. The fee is paid yearly by the end of May and covers the current year. Registration and payment through a bank transfer can be done online. For more details download the BEC Infosheet on Waste Collection Fee.

Car registration

In case you have been using your vehicle in the country for more than 185 days, an imported vehicle must be registered in the CR. This can only be done in the name of a foreign national with a temporary or long-term residence card bearing his or her Czech "birth number" (rodné číslo). Technical inspection of road eligibility has to be carried out and limited liability insurance must be purchased before the registration. For more details download the BEC Infosheet on Having a car and registering an imported car.

Driving licence

If you have a valid driving licence issued by a foreign country you may drive in the Czech Republic using that licence alone (if it has been issued according to EU standards) or with your licence plus an additional international driving licence (if your licence has not been issued in accordance with EU standards) till the end of the validity period of the appropriate document(s). If you wish to exchange, extend or apply for a Czech driving licence, you'll need to prove that you've been staying in the CR for more than 185 days. For more details download the BEC Infosheet on Driving licence and driving schools.

Tax return, social security

Being an employee or self-employed freelancer entails various obligations for you and your employer. The deadline for submitting the income tax return for the previous fiscal (=calendar) year is April 1st. Freelancers have complex responsibilities involving monthly payments relating to income tax, social security and health insurance. If you fall into this category, you should consult an accountant or get in touch with us in the BEC office. For more details download the BEC Infosheet on Business: Obligations when setting up and running a business.

Medical services

It's a good idea to find your local General Practitioner/Dentist/Pediatrician/Gynecologist before you might need them urgently. You can register with these doctors as their patient and when you need them you'll know where to go and what to expect. In most cases your GP will examine you and if any follow-up examinations or treatments are necessary s/he will then send you to a specialist. Before you visit any kind of doctor make sure they accept your type of insurance (paying in cash might not be possible everywhere). You can obtain a list of English-speaking doctors from our website in the BEC Infosheet on Health care and medical services.

In case of serious life-threatening emergencies call 112 (European emergency number; the operators speak English). This will bring an ambulance with a medical support team who'll examine and treat you on the spot or, if necessary, take you to hospital. If in need of urgent care (an injury or illness too serious to be dealt with immediately by a general practitioner but not life-endangering), go to the Trauma Hospital (Úrazová nemocnice v Brně, Ponávka 6, open 24/7 - tel. number: 545 538 111), where there are urgent care facilities for both medical and dental problems. If children and young people (up to the age of 19) need urgent care, you should turn to the Children's Hospital (Dětská nemocnice, Černopolní 9, urgent care services available 3:30 pm – 7 am on weekdays, 24/7 on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, tel. number: 532 231 111). Treatment at an emergency hospital requires your paying an administrative fee 90 CZK.

Non-stop 24/7 emergency pharmacies can be found in the city centre at Koliště 47, and Bašty 2. Some medications and goods in pharmacies are only available on prescription; others can be bought over the counter. A fairly wide range of prescribed medications (but not all of them) is fully or partially covered by your insurance policy.

NEEDS

Phone card

To buy a Czech SIM card and phone number you have the option to buy prepaid credit or to sign a contract for a monthly plan with one of the telecommunication providers. Here in the Czech Republic the biggest are 02, T-mobile and Vodafone. You'll find their shops on Masarykova and Česká streets.

Bank account

Having your salary sent directly to a bank account that offers internet banking and a debit card is the way to go. You can choose from a wide variety of banks – larger and smaller, internationally-owned and Czech – each with a portfolio of services. Most of the banks have an office in the city centre. To open an account, you'll need to bring some ID (in Roman characters) and have a local mobile phone number in order to be able to start internet banking and receive the debit card. For a list of banks, a review of foreigner-friendly banks and tips for a pleasant banking experience, download the BEC Infosheet on Banking and opening an account.

Public transport

Brno's transport system is very efficient and convenient. Better than individual tickets is to prepay a monthly/quarterly/yearly transport pass valid for all city transport (tram, bus, trolleybus). You can buy this at the main city transport office (Novobranská 18) or the Main Train Station. Never ride without a valid ticket/pass: ticket inspectors make frequent spot checks of travel documents (passes, tickets, e-tickets). They wear no uniforms but show official badges, and they have the right to see your ID document. If fined, make sure you pay within the next five working days as the fine increases rather rapidly over time. The Brno public transport system is explained at www.dpmb.cz. All transport schedules (municipal, plus those for trains and long-distance coaches) are available at www.idos.cz, which can also be downloaded as a mobile phone app.

Accommodation

The easiest and safest way to look for accommodation is to use the services of a real estate agency. Such services will cost you, the client, approximately one month's rent. Also, you should be ready to pay one to three months' rent as a security deposit (returnable at the end of your lease) plus at least the first month's rent. Of course you may want to search for your accommodation independently, online (usually in Czech) or via international communities. The main points to keep in mind are who you are dealing with; the actual ownership of the property; the wording of the lease, its specific conditions and its duration; the rent and the security deposit; and the hand-over protocol. Rental practices in the Czech Republic are described in detail in the BEC Infosheet on Accommodation and property.

Schooling

In the Czech Republic, pre-school facilities cater to children aged 3 to 6. Compulsory education goes from the age of 6 to 15. Secondary schools cater to young people from 16 to 19. The school year runs from 1 September until 30 June. Except for the pre-school level, the Czech educational system is overwhelmingly public and free of charge. Educational institutions that offer teaching solely in a language other than Czech will be private, and hence charge fees.

Pre-schooling It's difficult to get your child accepted into a public pre-school facility unless s/he's scheduled to attend primary school in the following school year, you live in the city district where the facility is located and your child is able/ willing to function in a Czech-speaking milieu. The official registration period is February-May via a central website (www.zapisdoms.brno.cz); however, it is advised to contact the chosen pre-schools in advance. In all other cases, i.e. children younger than 5 years of age, not speaking Czech or wanting to attend preschool in a different part of the city, you usually have to resort to a private provider. BEC provides a list of private kindergartens; contact us for details.

Schools The only school with English as its sole teaching language (kindergarten to grade 13) is the private International School of Brno. Most schools where the teaching is in Czech will welcome non-Czech-speaking children and do their best to integrate them into the classroom teaching process. One school is more professionally geared to working with children from a non-Czech background. Located at Staňkova 14, it has special classes of Czech for foreigners and also includes intercultural programmes in the curriculum. Registration for the following school year takes place each January-April via a central website (www.zapisdozs.brno. cz). For more information refer to our BEC Infosheet on Schools and pre-school facilities.

Eating out

Czechs are very sociable, and their favourite venues for socializing are the country's innumerable restaurants, cafés, bars, pubs, wine cellars, etc. etc. You'll probably find yourself fitting in easily with this Czech custom. Here we mention just a few things you should know at the beginning of your stay.

First, most Czechs eat their main meal at midday. To meet the demand, virtually every eating establishment offers a selection of fixed-price meals at lunchtime. These are reasonably inexpensive, and in most cases include a soup and a main dish (sometimes a dessert is included, or you can choose two out of three courses). Second, many firms, as part of their employee benefits, cover 50 percent of the cost of meal vouchers, which can be used in the vast majority of eating establishments. This makes meals very inexpensive indeed. Third, Brno offers a wide range of cuisines, from traditional Czech (and its "nouvelle cuisine" variant) through all the classic European cuisines and ethnic foods, to vegetarian/vegan dishes, ecologically-based meals and, most recently, molecular gastronomy. So you should have no problem finding something to satisfy you, at whatever end of the financial scale suits you best.

Finally, Czech beer is indeed the world's best (note that individual beers are marked as 10°, 11°, 12°, etc.; these indicate the relative alcoholic content – the higher the number, the more alcohol – and have nothing to do with the percentage of alcohol in the beverage. And Moravian wines, though a well-kept secret, have been winning top awards at wine competitions worldwide in recent years.

POSSIBILITIES

Leisure time and culture

As the English saying has it, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Brno certainly has plenty of attractions to keep you from becoming dull.

Brno offers endless opportunities for leisure-time activities – classes of all sorts, from technical subjects through art and pottery and literary pursuits to yoga and the martial arts; every kind of sport; musical opportunities; dance groups and informal dance sessions; clubbing. There's probably something here for all tastes. With the sharp rise in the number of expats in the city in recent years, many of these are available in English, and even if not, enough people now speak English that English-speakers can be catered to and are welcome to take part.

Culture, too, is highly developed, in particular musical culture, with innumerable opportunities ranging from the "high" end – opera, ballet, classical music – through musicals and jazz to the world of rock music. Among the city's almost 40 various theatres there are several with a very expressive and visual style that will appeal to even non-Czech speakers. Brno's museums and art galleries, both public and private, have extensive permanent collections and regular short-term exhibitions; their collections comprise several millennia of history, and include art and applied art works, architectural and anthropological material, technology (ncluding vintage cars, trams and buses) and even whole buildings that have been preserved and are open to the public because of their major historical importance.

Finally, the Czech Republic has the most extensive network of public hiking paths in the world; recently this has been joined by an equally impressive network of cycle paths. These offer endless opportunities for hiking and cycling in the summer and cross-country skiing in the winter, either in the hilly, forested country to the north and west of Brno or in the rolling countryside to the south and east of the city, with its many vineyards and wine cellars.

For more information on leisure-time and sports activities, download our BEC Infosheets on Leisure activities and Activities with kids. And in the "Living in Brno" section on our website, have a look at the extensive entries on "Arts and culture". In addition, you can find regular information on upcoming events by going to the website of Brno's Tourist Information Centre (TIC – www.gotobrno.cz/en) as well as the tourism website for the South Moravia Region (www.jizni-morava.cz/en).

To close, here are four tips to help you get a first feel for Brno and its environs.

Take the no. 1 tram and get off at the "Přístaviště" stop. A five-minute walk will take you to the edge of the Brno lake. From there, you have a choice: going for a swim; setting out on a hike or bike-ride round the lake; taking a boat that zig-zags up the lake to Veveří Castle, a wonderful jumble of medieval and later buildings. Even ice skating... At any time of year it's a great place for a day out.

Travel north to the Moravian Karst region and enjoy the beautiful wooded countryside, the dramatic Macocha Gorge and an underground boat ride through the amazing Punkva Cave system.

Go by bus or train to the town of Mikulov, situated to the south right by the border with Austria. It's a lovely historical town, with beautiful old buildings, a striking chateau and the fascinating remains of the former Jewish ghetto. And what's more, it's the gateway to the Pálava Hills as well as one of Moravia's best wine regions.

Download the Brno Architecture Manual (www.bam. brno.cz/en) and use it to explore Brno's incomparable Functionalist architectural heritage, including the UNESCO-listed Tugendhat Villa.

Masaryk University

Founded 1919. Masarvk University is the second oldest and the second largest university in the Czech Republic. With its 31 thousand students (nearly 20% are international) and more than 5 thousand employees, Masaryk University is also the top employer in the South Moravian region. In the past years, Masaryk University has been the most successful university in the country in attracting European investment funding, which enabled the birth of several state-of-the-art research facilities (CEITEC. RECETOX, CESEB etc.) attracting elite researchers and students from all over the world and contributing thus in a decisive manner to the international aspect of the city.
